Both stages of the online confirmation and all related procedures must be completed by the specified deadlines. Failure to complete either stage of the online confirmation or any other required procedures by the specified deadline will be deemed a voluntary forfeiture of the admission and enrollment rights. The University may cancel the admission and offer the resulting vacancy to applicants on the waitlist in order of priority. Admitted students are responsible for checking all relevant notifications and announcements. No request for remedial measures will be accepted on the grounds of not having received a notification.
5. Admitted students who are notified by the University to furnish explanations, submit additional documents, or provide verification regarding the required documents shall complete such requirements within the specified deadline. 6. Admitted graduate students who are currently enrolled in the same department or graduate institute and at the same degree level of the University (including those on an approved leave of absence or with deferred admission status) shall choose only one student status for enrollment. Failure to do so will result in the cancellation of the current admission offer, and the resulting vacancy will be filled by the next eligible applicant on the waitlist.

7. Students hoping to retain their name on the waitlist must complete an online confirmation procedure before the specific deadline as outlined in the notification letter; otherwise, students shall forfeit their place on the waitlist. Waitlisted students who are admitted to NTNU will receive an additional notification letter and shall be required to complete relevant registration procedures before the closing date for registration, which is the first day of class of the current academic year as specified by the annual school calendar. Students who fail to register by this date will be seen as having forfeited their admission to NTNU.

VII: Check-in and Enrollment

1. Admitted students who have completed the two-stage online confirmation must complete all registration and enrollment procedures before the class sign-up deadline, including applications for admissions deferral or the suspension of studies to avoid having their admission status revoked in accordance with the admission notification regulations for confirmation and registry procedures. Those applying with diplomas or degree certificates from Mainland China and who have not had their documents notarized by the relevant authorities by the application deadline shall present the notarized documents to the Office of International Affairs within one month from the day of when admission results are announced. If the proof of insurance is issued outside of Taiwan, it should be verified by R.O.C. diplomatic missions in the country where the document was issued.
3. Admitted students who are unable to register by the registration deadline and would like to extend their admission status to the following academic year must apply for an extension with the Division of Registry, Division of Graduate Studies under the Office of Academic Affairs at the main campus, or the Division of Academic Affairs for Gongguan Campus before the first day of class of the original semester in which the student was to commence their studies. Please note that not all departments/graduate institutes allow the extension of admission status. (Please refer to respective remarks of the department/graduate institute at: https://bds.oia.ntnu.edu.tw/bds/apply) Students whose application for admission status extension are approved by the University may begin procedures for entering the University the following academic year in accordance with the rules and regulations that apply to all new students for that year.
4. When required by their department/graduate institute, admitted students must register with the Steering Committee for the Test of Proficiency-Huayu to take a Test of Chinese as a Foreign Language (TOCFL). Students shall be required to pay for the test themselves. Please visit the following website for registration periods and additional details: https://tocfl.edu.tw/
5. Transferring credits from other colleges/universities will be governed by the related regulations of this University.
6. Admitted students should inquire at R.O.C. overseas missions to see if a language proficiency test certificate is required for visa application. A lack of required documents may lead to a failure in obtaining a visa for your study at NTNU.
7. Obtaining admission to NTNU does not guarantee the issuance of a Resident Visa. Obtaining a Resident Visa does not entitle the visa holder to enter the R.O.C. (Taiwan). Visa issuance is an act of sovereignty. According to the Statute Governing Issuance of R.O.C. Visas in Foreign Passports and *Enforcement Rules for the Issuance of R.O.C. A foreign national who has been selected by a foreign government, organization, or educational institution to study in Taiwan in accordance with an education cooperation agreement, and who has never had household registration in Taiwan may be given exemption from the restrictions set out in the two preceding paragraphs if the competent authority gives approval.

The periods of six years and eight years referred to in Paragraph 2 shall be calculated using the starting date of the semester (February 1, or August 1) as the end date of the period.

The term "overseas" used in Paragraph 2 refers to countries or regions other than the Mainland Area, Hong Kong, and Macau; the term "reside overseas continuously" means that an international student has stayed in Taiwan for no more than a total of 120 days in each calendar year. When calculating the number of consecutive years spent overseas, if the initial or final year of the period is not a complete calendar year, any time spent in Taiwan in the initial or final year must not exceed 120 days. However, time that a person has spent in Taiwan is not subject to this restriction and it is not counted when calculating how long they were in Taiwan in a particular year if the person has documentary proof that they:

Article 3 An applicant of foreign nationality, who is eligible for permanent residence in Hong Kong or Macao, who has never had household registration in Taiwan, and who at the time of their application has resided in Hong Kong, Macao, or elsewhere overseas continuously for at least six years may apply for admission in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations. However, a person who plans to apply to study in a university department of medicine, dentistry, or Chinese medicine must have resided overseas continuously for at least eight years.

The term "resided […] continuously" in the preceding paragraph means that a person did not spend more than a total of 120 days in Taiwan in each calendar year. However, this restriction does not apply if a person can present documentary proof that any of the circumstances listed in Paragraph 5, Subparagraphs 1 to 4 of the previous article apply. The time that they spent in Taiwan in the ways listed is not counted when calculating the period of continuous residence referred to in the previous paragraph.

A person who was formerly from the Mainland Area and who has foreign nationality and has never had household registration in Taiwan, and who at the time of their application has resided overseas continuously for at least six years may apply for admission to an educational institution, in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations. However, a person who plans to apply to study in a university department of medicine, dentistry, or Chinese medicine must have resided overseas continuously for at least eight years.

The term "resided […] continuously" in the preceding paragraph means that a person did not spend more than a total of 120 days in Taiwan in each calendar year. However, this restriction does not apply if a person can present documentary proof that any of the circumstances listed in Paragraph 5, Subparagraphs 1 to 4 of the previous article apply. The time that they spent in Taiwan in the ways listed is not counted when calculating the period that they resided continuously overseas referred to in the previous paragraph.

The periods of six years and eight years referred to in Paragraph 1 and in Paragraph 3 shall be calculated using the starting date of the semester (February 1, or August 1) as the end date of the period.

The definition of "overseas" given in Paragraph 5 of the previous article also applies, mutatis mutandis, to Paragraph 1 to Paragraph 4.

Article 4 An international student applying to study at an educational institution in Taiwan in accordance with the provisions of the two previous articles is limited to only applying once. If a student wants to continue studying in Taiwan, their application shall be handled in the same manner as the admission procedures for domestic students.

An international student in any of the following circumstances, who after applying to study in Taiwan in accordance with the preceding paragraph, is applying to continue studying in Taiwan, or is once again applying to study in Taiwan, is not subject to the restriction set out in the preceding paragraph.

1. If the international student is applying for admission to a master's degree or higher-level program after completing the course of study at the educational institution to which they originally applied.
