Amy Hung had a wonderful gift and passion for teaching. When her family life brought her to the United States, she began a new journey as she raised her family.

Amy's legacy of teaching will never be forgotten as it is passed on through The Amy Hui-Mei Chen Hung Memorial Scholarship Endowment.

American Life

Amy and Akey Hung were married in Taiwan in July 1969. Amy was happily pursuing her research in Chinese etymology and enjoying a very promising teaching career at National Taiwan Normal University when she decided to forego these golden opportunities and come to the United States to join Akey in 1970. Life was not easy for this young couple in a foreign country. Amy had to work to help support the family. In addition to being a full-time mother, she worked as a waitress, dining hall assistant, bookkeeper, student nurse, water treatment plant technician, and Chinese school teacher. She even studied to be a computer programmer.

Amy's 13 years in the United States were earmarked by great self-sacrifice in supporting her husband and raising their two children. Amy passed away in June of 1983 at the age of 39.

New Opportunities

It was always Akey's hope that someday Amy would have the opportunity to resume her research in Chinese etymology and teach at her alma mater in Taiwan. Since this is no longer possible, Akey believes his hope can still be fulfilled in another fashion by offering students and junior faculty members from Amy's alma mater with the opportunity to attend the University of North Dakota and pursue study at the graduate level. The recipients will go back to Taiwan to teach after completing a doctoral degree.

In honor and remembrance of Amy, Akey is expressing his appreciation and gratitude to the University of North Dakota for the educational opportunities afforded him. This opportunity is also in recognition of the excellent education Amy received at National Taiwan Normal University.
